ADVOCATE STILL ANOTHER PLAN

Rushville Men Believe Petitions For Four New Stations Should Have Been Circulated.

ANOTHER FOR UNION DEPOT

They Declare Railroads Might Decide on Combination Station as Cheapest Course to Pursue.

Rushville men who read last night of the two petitions, each bearing the signatures of fifty different influential business men, being sent to the State Railroad Commission requesting that the Cincinnati, Indianapolis & Western Railway Company and the Pennsylvania be compelled to build new stations here on the ground that the present stations are unsanitary and unlawful, say that even a better course could have been pursued.

They argue that four petitions requesting that all four of the railroads entering this city build new stations here would have been a much better plan. On top of that it is declared that another petition could have been circulated in which the commission might be asked to order all four of the roads to build a union station providing the commission found after an investigation that all of the stations should be replaced by new ones.

Men who have long harbored the union station idea as the most logical thing for this city, since the railroads are situated as they are and could be changed so as to meet at a certain point, assert that the railroads, should the commission order all of them to build, would combine and erect a union station as the cheapest method to get out of the difficulty.

Others say that the law does not allow a station to be built at the intersection of two or more railroads, and it is pointed out that a union station could not be built in this city to accommodate all four of the rail-

DEATH CAME TO VETERAN FLAGMAN

Thomas Worth, Age 74 Years, Succumbs at His Home After Illness
With Paralysis.

FUNERAL TO BE THURSDAY

Thomas Worth, seventy-four years old, a well known resident of this city died last night at 8:30 o'clock at his home, 410 East Seventh street. Mr. Worth had been in ill health for several months and last Friday suffered a stroke of paralysis, which hastened his death.

He was a native of Virginia and moved to this county at an early age. Mr. Worth was a veteran of the Civil war, a member of the Red Men lodge and a member of the St. Paul M. E. church.

Until a few months ago Mr. Worth was flagman at the Perkins street crossing of the C. H. & D. railroad. He served as flagman for fourteen years and was in the employ of the railroad for twenty-seven years. He is survived by a widow and two children, Charles Worth of Richmond, and William Worth of Honey Creek, Ind.

The funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at the late residence, conducted by the Rev. W. H. Willie. Burial will be in charge of the Red Men and will take place in the East Hill cemetery.

roads unless it were situated in that way. An agent of one of the local railroads say that the law does not require that a union station not be built at the intersection of two or more railroads.

The announcement last night that the two petitions had been sent to the commission came as a big surprise to most people. The petitions were circulated quietly and no noise was made about it until the signers had been obtained.

It is likely that the agitation for more petitions for the two railroads and still another for a union station may result in some action being taken. It is not too late yet, according to several Rushville men, to circulate the other petitions. It will probably be several days before the local petitions come up for consideration before the commission as that body probably has much work ahead all the time.

The commission will probably come here and investigate the conditions before it acts as it did once before when a similar petition was filed for a new C. H. & D. station. At that time the commission ordered the road to build but it did not have the power to enforce it. Now it has the power which was given to it in an act of the last legislature.

LIGHTNING DOES DAMAGE

Partially Destroys Home of O. R.
Phares During Severe Storm.

The home of O. R. Phares, near Fountaintown, was nearly destroyed by lightning yesterday during a thunder and lightning storm. The lightning set the house on fire in two places, tore a section of the roof from the building and severed the east room of the house from the main building. The storm was one of the severest in months in that locality and it is a miracle the family, which was in the house at the time of the accident, were not badly injured or burned severely. The damage will amount to several hundred dollars, which was covered by insurance.

SANTA CLAUSE TO GET ALL LETTERS

Postmasters Given Authority to Deliver Them to Institutions or Individuals.

FOR PHILANTHROPIC PURPOSES

It has ever been the practice among little tots to write letters to Santa Clause shortly before the holidays, in which they tell the patron saint just what they want and just how much they want for Christmas. In the past these letters have not been answered literally, but it is probable that they will be answered literally in Rushville this year, for an order has been issued from the postoffice department at Washington that all letters addressed to Santa Clause shall be delivered to the charitable organizations, when they are asked for by the associations.

The order is as follows: "All postmasters are authorized to deliver all letters arriving at their respective postoffices between December 16, 1911, and January 1, 1912, inclusive, which are addressed plainly and unmistakably to 'Santa Clause' without any other terms or marks identifying the person for whom such letters are intended, to responsible institutions or individuals in the town or city of address who may desire to use them exclusively for philanthropic purposes. In the event that these letters are requested by more than one such institution or individual, the postmaster shall distribute them as he may deem proper."

STANLEY TAKEN ON TWO CHARGES

Trouble at Raleigh Church Social Leads to the Filing of Affidavit
Before Spuire Kratzer.

TRIAL IS SET FOR SATURDAY

Jealousy Said to Cause a Fight in Which Minister Suffers Broken Nose.

Eugene Stanley of Middletown, Henry county, was arrested today by Chief McAllister for assault and battery on the Rev. Carl Berry of Carthage and for disturbing a meeting. The affidavit for assault and battery was filed by James L. Hayes and the one for disturbing a public meeting was sworn to by Ed Aikens, both of Raleigh.

The trouble is said to have occurred at a Halloween social Saturday night, which was given in the town hall in Raleigh. Stanley is alleged to have hit the minister an awful rap, breaking his nose. The fight and excitement following almost broke up the social and for a time it looked as though there was to be a free-for-all fight.

The cause of the fight, according to Stanley, who told the story yesterday to Assistant Prosecutor Donald Smith, was jealousy. All the parties in the affair were here yesterday and talked with Mr. Smith. Stanley told the assistant prosecutor the same story as the others and then added his side of the case. He expected to be arrested and told Mr. Smith where he could find him. Stanley is employed by George Watts of Knightstown in the gas well drilling business and at present is employed near his home in Middletown.

Stanley, according to Mr. Smith, said the Rev. Carl Berry had been paying attentions to his fiancée and on the night of the trouble, Mr. Berry was more attentive than ever. Stanley told the assistant prosecutor that he stood it just as long as he could and then went after the minister. He took the minister by the collar and while he held him with one hand, hit him with the other squarely on the nose. He said he gave him a little jerk for good measure and in doing so got the minister's tie, collar, and part of his shirt front. Stanley told Mr. Smith that he was extremely jealous of the girl he is to marry and the cause of the trouble was based on this.

Chief McAllister went after Stanley this morning on the two warrants issued in Squire Kratzer's court and expected to bring him here this afternoon, where he would secure bond. The trial will probably be held Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Berry, it is understood, would not prosecute Stanley but will appear as a witness. The minister is pastor of the Carthage and Raleigh Christian churches and is well known here. He sincerely hates that the affair took place and holds nothing against Stanley.

TOWN ELECTIONS TAME AFFAIRS

Result at Carthage and Glenwood is Known Before Vote is Counted Today.

NO OPPOSITION EITHER PLACE

Chief Interest is Fact That it is the First Test of Corrupt Practices Act.

The elections today in the two incorporated towns in Rush county, Glenwood and Carthage, were tame affairs, in view of the fact that the result was known even before the voting was started. This is the case as there was no opposition in either one of the towns.

It is an easy matter to predict now that there will be two Republican trustees and one Democratic trustee, a Republican clerk and treasurer and a Republican marshal at Carthage and the whole People's ticket will be elected at Glenwood.

At Carthage there was little need of holding an election and the same thing holds true in Glenwood. Today the only change made at Carthage as the result of the election will be the personnel of the town board of trustees. J. C. Cox, a Democrat, who has been a trustee for the last term was not a candidate for the job and Ed Henley, a Carthage groceryman, and a Republican, was the only aspirant for the office. This means that there will be one Democrat and two Republican trustees whereas during the last term there has been one Republican and two Democrats.

All of the other officials were candidates for re-election. The present officials who were re-elected today are: Jesse Siler, Democratic trustee; Lon Kiser, Republican trustee; Jasper Parrish, Republican marshal and Arthur Lineback, Republican, clerk and treasurer.

At Glenwood there could be no opposition because there is only one ticket in the field, the People's. Samuel D. Turner was re-elected trustee of the first ward; Van E. Lewark was re-elected clerk and treasurer and Martin Wright was elected marshal to succeed John F. Mapes. Alfred L. Chew of the second ward, and Henry C. Culbertson, trustee of the third ward, are hold-over officials.

The chief interest in the town elections in this county today and all over the State for that matter, is the fact that it is the first test which will be made of the new corrupt practices act passed by the last legislature. This statute provides that each candidate shall file with the clerk of the circuit court in the county in which the town is located girls. Spare Them by an itemized statement in writing, showing the expenses of his campaign, and in addition, each candidate must swear whether he has made any contributions, made any promises or incurred any liability during his campaign which would likely benefit him in seeking public office.

Not until such a statement is filed by the successful candidate for any office can he receive his commission or certificate of election. In case any one of the candidates should falsify his itemized statement of election expenses and promises, he is liable to prosecution for perjury, the prosecuting attorney being charged to make a vigorous prosecution.

This act, it is thought, is largely due to the little interest that is connected with the town elections over the State. There is little salary attached to any of the town offices and men do not feel justified in going to the trouble entailed by the recent statute to try for the office. There is said to be much complaint because the law is made to apply in town elections.

ORANGE HARBORS A REAL WILD MAN

Residents of That Township Are Uneasy Because of Appearance of Long-Haired Individual.

CHURCH IS PLACE OF ABODE

A strange person, who has been dubbed a wild man is terrorizing the neighborhood of north of St. Paul, and in Orange township, this county. It is said that the man is causing much unrest in the community due to the fact that he haunts the place continually and makes as the place of his abode the St. John church which is located about three miles southwest of Moscow. The strange individual wanders through the fields during the day and sleeps under the church at night. He is described as having long hair and the general appearance of an insane man. No one has succeeded in getting close enough to him to obtain a good description.

A few days ago, it has been learned, the man was farther east in Orange township, this county, near the home of William Sliger. He appeared in the corn field where Mr. Sliger and a hand were husking corn. He carried a long knife and started toward the men. They became frightened and took to their heels as they were afraid of him. A young lady teaching school in the same neighborhood became frightened at the man. No more was heard of him in that community and he then appeared in the St. John neighborhood. Who he is or from whence he came is a mystery and the residents are becoming excited over his actions.

HENRY GEREN IS NOT CRAZY

Insanity Inquest Finds he is of Sound Mind.

Henry Geren was acquitted this morning after the evidence had been heard in the insanity proceedings brought against him. Many witnesses were examined and the evidence failed to prove him of unsound mind. Even Geren's wife, who is said to be the cause of most of the trouble could not testify that he was insane. Geren refuses to live with her and they have agreed to call it "quits." She agrees to go to New Castle and he will depart for Shelbyville.

The funeral services of Mrs. Arra Bennett were held this morning at the late residence, south of the city. Burial took place in East Hill cemetery.

THOROUGHbred STARTS HERD

John F. Boyd's Jersey Cattle Are Praised Again, This Time by Chicago Dairy Cattlemen.

HE WINS AT NATIONAL SHOW

Prizes Are Repetition of Ones Taken at International Show—History of His Stock Farm.

After being given mention prominently in dispatches sent out from Milwaukee while the international dairy show was in progress there last month for having the best herd of dairy cattle at the show, John F. Boyd, proprietor of the Riverside stock farm in Jersey City, is again praised for the herd which he raised and bred himself, in a dispatch from Chicago where the national dairy show was held recently. The Chicago dispatch says:

Concerning a herd of Indiana Jersey cattle shown at the national dairy show here recently, an Ohio herdsman who happened to be standing near the Indiana exhibit, was asked why it was that the Hoosier had been winning so many prizes. He said it was because the owner of the herd raised his own stock on his own Indiana farm instead of importing and buying animals raised or bred by others.

This simple statement was carried to one of the government experts in charge of the testing and feeding demonstrations, and he said that that was the kind of talk he liked to hear. The pure bred cattle associations and others interested in the upbuilding of the dairy herds are offering premiums to induce dairy cattle owners to do that very thing.

The name of the Indiana man is John F. Boyd of Rushville, and probably there could not be found a more earnest and successful representative of a great State in progressive dairying. The man, with a little herd of ten beautiful animals, representing a herd of forty-five on a farm of only sixty acres, showed at six important exhibitions this fall. At one of the shows he took all of the grand champion and champion prizes held up for his tribe of cattle, and in addition he captured twenty-five firsts, one second, two thirds and two fifths.

At Chicago he got eight prizes, first on breeders' young herd, first on a six-months-old heifer calf and first on a bull calf of the same age.

Boyd began raising Jersey cattle twenty years ago, commencing with one thoroughbred cow, which he bred to a registered bull. He has progressed beyond the point where he sold seventy-five pure bred animals at one sale, distributing them all over the country. Three other Jersey men have started herds in the same neighborhood and many others in other parts of Indiana have done the same thing, not to mention the work of others with other tribes of dairy cattle.

WATSON WILL TALK.

James E. Watson will deliver an address at the Knife and Fork Club dinner in South Bend Tuesday evening, November 21. Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin was billed to speak also, but has written that he will be in New England at that time.

WINS PRIZES.

Word has been received here that Mrs. Bert Kennedy, formerly of this city, but now of Salem, Oregon, was a successful exhibitor at the Oregon State fair. She won first prize for the best cake and salt rising bread.

There are said to be twelve thousand of the "morally insane" in New York at the present time.

Small Number of Squirrels Are Found in Rush County

Very few people now living in Rushville and Rush county realize the great numbers of squirrels which overran the country in the early part of the nineteenth century and there are probably not more than a dozen people who remember the last great migration in the squirrel family. It occurred many years ago, when the octogenarians now living were very small boys. Some of them can recall the great squirrel migration yet, but the story is so old that it is new to most of the people now living in Indiana.

When the last great movement of the squirrels commenced in this country it was before the forests had been cleared away. They were mostly grey squirrels who made the trip although there were some black ones in the movement. The rodents started from the south and traveled north. They swam in the Ohio river in great droves and safety passed all of the smaller streams which they encountered. The little animals marched on the ground in vast armies literally covering the earth and there was a time when the settler could hardly walk abroad in the forests without stepping on some of them. Rush county was in the direct line of march and if any of The Daily Republican readers doubt the story of this strange invasion he has only to hunt out some bright old pioneer who has a retentive memory and get the story from an eye witness.

The squirrels "cleaned up" many corn fields on the way and were forced to go to great extremes for food. Where the squirrels were going was not definitely learned by the settlers, excepting that the invasion came from the south. Great migrations of squirrels are not unknown in natural history by any means, but the last one which swept over Indiana came a great many years ago.

Few people not students of natural history perhaps know that the squirrel is an animal common to nearly every country in the civilized world. He is a native in every country except Australia but no place is he as common as in the United States. In the good old days of Rush county squirrels were a common food but now the animals have grown scarcer and it takes a good squirrel hunter to go out and bring home a bunch of the little rodents. Squirrels are also very abundant in India and southern Asia.

The red squirrel or chickaroo is the most common species in the United States just now, especially in the mountain regions and he is driving gray squirrels and fox squirrels out of the country. The first squirrels in Rush county were of gray variety and the fox squirrels commenced coming in just before the civil war. Of late years the little red squirrel is taking possession of things. He is only about eight inches in length and does not make good eating on account of his size. He lives on nuts, birds' eggs and even on birds themselves.

The fox squirrel is the largest and handsomest variety in America. He is about twelve inches in length and has a very bushy tail. The fox squirrel is usually a brownish grey in color but sometimes is black especially in the South Atlantic and Gulf States. The gray squirrel is smaller than the fox squirrel, and he is more widely distributed. He is generally about ten inches in length and is highly prized in the New England states especially as an article of food. The California grey squirrel is remarkable for its size and beauty. The common squirrel of Europe is red in color and a trifle larger than our red squirrel. He is widely distributed from Lapland to the Mediterranean and from Japan to the British Isle.

Ground squirrels are common in America. They have large cheek pouches and a well developed nail on the thumb. The chipmunk is very abundant.

Flying squirrels were once quite common in Rush county, too. They have hairy folds of skin extending on each side from the front to the back legs forming a pouch used like a parachute for taking long leaps. The flying squirrel is nocturnal in habits and in color closely resembles the bark of the tree he inhabits, making him very hard to detect. He is gentle and easily tamed. Like other squirrels he feeds principally on nuts and birds eggs. He often flies as far as sixty feet and he covers the distance with a rapid and graceful motion. The flying squirrels was common in most parts of North America at one time.

Germes Spread in Skin

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, gnawing their way deep into the sensitive tissue. This is what causes that awful itch, and what seemed a mere rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble, with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

MARKET WENT AGAINST HIM

This Bank Cashier Expected to Get Rich Quick.

IT WAS THE SAME OLD STORY

Young Harter, Cashier of the Bank at Akron, Had "Bought" 300,000 Bushels of Wheat, Expecting to Unload at a Dollar, but After He Had Used $30,000 of Other People's Money in Margins the Exposure Came.

Indianapolis, Nov. 7.—The auditor of state gives as the cause of the downfall of Howard B. Harter, defaulting cashier of the Citizens' bank of Akron, which the auditor closed last Saturday, the task of carrying a wheat margin on a loggy market after he had bought 300,000 bushels, expecting to unload for a dollar a bushel. Fifteen thousand dollars of the bank's money was used at one time by Harter to cover his margins, and he was intercepted as he was leaving Akron for Fort Wayne to negotiate $15,000 additional on securities of the bank, which the auditor had reason to believe was also to be thrown into the wheat pit. Of the $15,000 lost, the auditor was able to save $9,000 by stopping payment on a check the young man had drawn in favor of his broker. An attempt is to be made by the bank officials to recover the entire amount, on the grounds that the young man was using the bank's money to which he had no right.

In addition to the revelations concerning the manipulations by Harter, Harry L. Arnold, chief clerk in the bank department in the auditor's office, found that two of the stockholders of the bank had been "stung" by Harter to the extent of approximately $8,500 as a result of their efforts to dodge taxes. The total amount entrusted to Harter by the "dodgers" was $14,500, but Harter had given receipts for $6,000 of the amount as cashier of the bank, and the bank is responsible. The remainder he received for by personal receipts, and the bank is not responsible. The total amount was used by Harter in Board of Trade speculations.

The two stockholders turned their money over to Harter to invest in real estate. This was done and he deposited the notes and mortgages in the bank's accounts, taking out an equivalent in cash for his own use. By this means the two stockholders, according to Arnold, were able to keep this much of their property from the assessor's books.

The total loss to the bank because of Harter's manipulations will be about $30,000, Arnold said. The stockholders will make this good, and the depositors will lose nothing, he said.

WARNS AGAINST POLITICS.

A bulletin from C. W. Moss, of Cincinnati, civil service secretary for the Sixth district, calling attention to the civil service rules against activity in politics, has been sent out over the district which includes Indiana. The occasion for sending out the order at this time, it is set out, is the campaign being waged in Kentucky. Complaints have been made, it is stated, that civil service employees have active in that campaign.

While the civil engineer employe, it is set out, has a right to vote as he pleases the right to express himself privately regarding his views on any political subject, he is prohibited from taking an active part in any political campaign. This is broadly prohibitive, it is stated, and the penalty is removal from the service.

The attitude of the President, says the bulletin, is for the strict observance of the spirit of noninterference in the Kentucky campaign, as shown by his recent statement that he would not visit Kentucky at this time, because such a visit might be regarded as a partisan move.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and notice the difference after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin, Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

NO TROUBLE MARKED INAUGURATION DAY

Mexico Hails New President With Enthusiasm.

Mexico City, Nov. 7.—Amidst great enthusiasm of the people, Francisco I. Madero was inaugurated president of Mexico Monday, the entire proceedings passing off entirely without accident.

President Madero drove through the principal streets accompanied by General Orozco, and surrounded by a guard of his soldiers who had been prominent throughout the revolution. The crowd greeted Madero enthusiastically, but appeared more interested in Orozco.

All the foreign representatives called at the palace to pay their respects to the new president.

Immediately after the ceremony at the chamber of deputies Acting President De La Barra departed by a special train to Vera Cruz, from where he sails on Saturday for Europe.

Since the peaceful inauguration of President Madero there is a better feeling generally. It is believed that another revolution is improbable.

AVOID HARSH DRUGS

Many Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels.

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their action is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction and completely remedy constipation. This preparation is called Rexall Orderlies. These are prompt, soothing, and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Combined with other well-known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing and inconvenience whatever. They do not gripe, purge, nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons, and aged people, as well as for the most hearty person.

They come in three size packages, 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Third and Main streets.

SAVING SEED CORN

G. I. CHRISTIE, Superintendent
Purdue University Agricultural Extension

Many farmers in Indiana have had a seed corn patch this season. Many others have a special part of the field from which they will select seed for next year. It is very important, therefore, that after time has been spent raising and selecting this corn that some attention should be given to the proper drying and saving of same.

Much corn that is intended for seed is injured by improper methods of drying and storing. It is most liable to injury during the first month or six weeks after husking. The outside of the ear may be dry and hard, but the cob and points of the kernels still contain much moisture and it is this that usually causes much molding or growing or injury from freezing. Corn selected from the field should not be thrown in a heap or placed in sacks. This is sure to result in injury. It is important that every ear be so placed that it will be subject to a free circulation of air. It is most important that the corn be protected from the rains and the snows since no grain absorbs moisture more readily than does corn. If the corn is thoroughly dried and kept dry, no amount of freezing will injure it. See that your corn is properly dried and stored. This will mean much towards securing good seed for the 1912 crop.

Left—A convenient and satisfactory rack made with lath and 6-inch fence boards.

Right—A desirable way of storing small amounts of seed corn.

The dormant period should be a time of general cleaning and putting things in shape among the trees.

The German people are much stirred up about the high cost of living, but if they will only turn to the speeches of any of our candidates, they will learn how that little difficulty can be attended to.

Ambassador Leischman, who is beginning his service at the German court, will not stir the diplomatic world if he does happen to break all the Ten Commandments, but neither he nor his wife must ride down to market on his bicycle.

Londoners have refused to bid for the bell that once hung in the poet Wordsworth's room, but no doubt they would have paid good money if it had been powerful enough to serve as a dinner bell.

Mr. Roosevelt calls for the control of judges, but who are going to control the people that control the judge?

The Zeppelin air ships are doing better, one of them having completed a 100th trip with many passengers. But it will be some years before the man who never rode in an air ship gets his picture in the papers.

King George is angry because he was photographed in his bathing suit. He probably felt he was protected by the divinity that doth hedge a king, but a bath house would have been a better shelter.

There is a growing feeling that Aviator Vaniman should either proceed to aviate across the ocean or take a job as a street car conductor.

the Democratic city ticket in the last municipal election.—Marion Chronicle.

This at last puts a new light on the recent proceedings at Richmond. It confirms the common theory that the Richmond Palladium in politics is hypocritical, that it is merely a Democratic publication when its motive and purpose is considered, and not a Republican paper as it poses before the public. It would be far better should the paper announce that it is independent in politics. Independent papers have a license to go Democratic as they generally do.

The argument of local men that a petition for a new station for every railroad entering Rushville should have been mailed with the other two to the State Railroad Commission yesterday seems a logical one. They allege that every railroad could be compelled to build a new station on the theory that they do not comply with the law and are unsanitary. The opinion is divided on that however. It is argued that another petition for a union station should be sent along with the petitions for new individual stations and that a fair chance would be had for a union depot. They say that, in the event the commission decided that a new station should be built by every railroad, the various companies might get their heads together and arrange to build a union depot as the cheapest course to pursue. This is advocated by men who long have cherished the union station idea.

The effort of Master Rudolf Leeds to have the Republican central committee of Wayne county assume control of the meeting of Senator LaFollette there in November failed miserably as it deserved to fail, says the Ft. Wayne News. The members of the committee refused flatly to have anything to do with the affair, and from the present prospects the boy will have the distinction of being reception committee, committee on entertainment, committee on hall, committee on refreshments, and the chairman of the meeting all by himself. The case is a peculiar one, and it very fittingly and forcefully demonstrates the lack of esteem for Senator LaFollette by the Republicans of Indiana. He is a senator of the United States and has a perfect right to aspire to the presidential nomination if he so desires. Indeed, under ordinary circumstances he might expect some support and certainly to be treated with distinguished consideration on the occasion of a visit to this State. He might reasonably suppose that the Wayne county central committee would greet him and take charge of his meeting. It could do this without committing itself to his cause and could justify its action on the ground that it was merely honoring a distinguished Republican guest. But there is ample reason for the attitude toward Mr. LaFollette.

The refusal of Indiana Republicans to identify themselves with Mr. LaFollette's meetings is not due in any sense to their partisan devotion to President Taft's cause, for he is not a man who attracts to himself that unreasoning devotion that makes men fanatical, nor is it due to a feeling that no one has a right to compete with the President for the nomination next year. Far from it. The opposition to Senator LaFollette is based upon no reason so unfair and unworthy.

It is based upon the deep-seated conviction that he is a man who is perfectly willing to sacrifice the interests of his party to the furtherance of his own ambitions and his own selfish interests, and that his whole course during the past four years constitutes a confirmation of this charge. The Republicans of Indiana do not regard him either as a good Republican or a good man, and they evince their aversion to him by refusing to lend themselves or their organization to dignify his invasion of this State.

Nothing quite equals the conceit of a man who imagines that the world owes him a living.

That little saying which we swiped is dedicated to the fellow who is too lazy to work.

Market reports say that the price of lemons has gone up several percent. We have had one handed to us free of charge.

A Cambridge, Mass., pastor said recently that premature baldness is invariably a sign of sin. That establishes an alibi for the bald head row, does it not? Yes, it does—not.

Many a girl who is pigeon-toed—and don't know it—can hypnotize a fellow by calling him "dovie."

If you have anything to make, make good rather than make excuses. That's what a contemporary of ours thinks.

November is the month, we are told, which would like to be winter but can't stand the gift. It is served out principally under showersticks and has no excuse for being present.

However it still has some chance to put it all over October when it comes to this glow business.

December, however, is going to be a good month. You may take that from one who don't know.

"Nothing is sweeter," observes an exchange, "than thoughts of Christmas." Now do you suppose that fellow ever had a pay day?

Joy consists largely in having nothing to do. Remorse is a ticklish feeling around the thorax when one forgets to cover up his tracks and regret consists in that strange sensation which is common after you overlook a first-class bet.

Rushville men from the local post-office who were entertained by the Connersville letter carriers have nothing but complimentary remarks for their hosts. The men from here who attended were: Charles Frazee, postmaster; Charles Brown, assistant; Ben Sparks, Howard Carmichael, Herman Jones and Heber Allen, city letter carriers; Bert Conde, substitute; and John P. Stech, former city letter carrier. The Connersville News says of the entertainment:

Charles A. Frazee, postmaster of Rushville, and Charles Brown, his deputy, together with six of the Rushville letter carriers from the city, were banqueted in style Saturday night at the McFarlan hotel, by Postmaster DeHaven, deputy, William McNaughton and the local force as a whole. A substantial lunch was served, followed by a smoker and a thoroughly pleasant evening, which was delightfully informal. Though the meeting was essentially social a number of short talks were given which had to do with the work of the letter carriers, and were intended to be informative and helpful and were so. When the visitors left it was with the expressed feeling that they had spent one of the pleasantest evenings of their lives.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess will show two good pictures tonight. The first is an unusually good war drama entitled "The General's Daughter and the Mahdi." It is a sensational picture showing many thrilling scenes. The other film is an Essanay comedy, "Putting it Over." Many funny situations are shown and the comedy is of the very best.

When the light falls on the curtain at the Palace tonight, Mr. Johnson and Miss Lawrence will be the chief entertainers in the Lubin film, Mr. Johnson is a well-liked actor and he will play the part of a clubman and all-around good fellow who has taken Miss Lawrence as his bride from before the foot lights for a more comfortable life in a home on the river front overlooking Riverside Drive. The bridegroom returns home one evening and finds cigarettes on the table and asks the maid who smoked them. He is suspicious of some other man, but it ends happy as it turns out to be his actress wife's secret. It is a very clever comedy. "The Redman's Dog" is a Pathe of unusual scenic display with a very clever story told of the early west. Thomas sisters will play again tonight.

William A. Brady, Ltd., announces the first presentation of "Baby Mine" at the Connersville Auditorium Wednesday night. Such shouts of mirth, so loud, so long, so beyond all restraint as will be in evidence at the Auditorium, have surely never been heard in Connersville before. "Baby Mine" is a popular success, the biggest success ever known. It ran for one solid year at Daly's theater, New York, and has now reached its second year in London at the Vaudeville theater. It is also shortly to be produced in Paris, Berlin, Vienna, St. Petersburg, South America, South Africa, Australia and Japan. The heroine of "Baby Mine" is a flippant little woman who has so tried her indulgent husband that in a fit of jealousy he deserts her. In winning him back all sorts of complications arise and there are just enough pauses in the merriment to give the audience time for the little serious human notes and to catch its breath.

"Madam Sherry" will be the attraction at the Auditorium this evening and a number of local people plan to attend.

CHAPTER II.

It was Daylight's night. He was the center and the head of the revel, unquenchably joyous, a contagion of fun. In between dances he paid over to Kearns the twenty thousand in dust and transferred to him his Moosehide claim. Likewise he arranged the taking over of Billy Rawlins' mail contract, and made his preparations for the start. He dispatched a messenger to rout out Kama, his dog-driver—a Tananaw Indian, far-wandered from his tribal home in the service of the invading whites. Kama entered the Tivoli, tall, lean, muscular, and furred, the pick of his barbaric race and barbaric still, unshaken and unabashed by the revels that rioted about him while Daylight gave his orders.

"Um," said Kama, tabbing his instructions on his fingers. "Get um letters from Rawlins. Load um on sled. Grub for Selkirk—you think um plenty dog-grub stop Selkirk?"

"Plenty dog-grub, Kama."

"Um. Bring sled this place nine um clock. Bring um snowshoes. No bring um tent. Mebbe bring um fly? um little fly?"

"No fly," Daylight answered decisively. "We travel light—savvee? We carry plenty letters out, plenty letters back. You are strong man. Plenty cold, plenty travel, all right."

"Sure all right," Kama muttered, with resignation. "Much cold, no care. Um ready nine um clock."

He turned on his moccasined heel and walked out, imperturbable, sphinx-like, neither giving nor receiving greetings nor looking to right or left. The Virgin led Daylight away into a corner.

"Look here, Daylight," she said in a low voice, "you're busted."

"Higher'n a kite."

"I've eight thousand in Mac's safe—" she began.

But Daylight interrupted. The apron-string loomed near and he shielded like an unbroken colt.

"It don't matter," he said. "Busted I came into the world, busted I go out, and I've been busted most of the time since I arrived. Come on; let's waltz."

"But, listen," she urged. "My money's doing nothing. I could lend it to you—a grub-stake," she added, hurriedly, at sight of the alarm in his face. "Nobody grub-stakes me," was the answer. "I stake myself, and when I make a killing it's sure all mine. No thank you, old girl. Much obliged. I'll get my stake by running the mail out and in." With a sudden well-assumed ebullience of spirits he drew her toward the dancing-floor, and as they swung around and around in a waltz she pondered on the iron heart of the man who held her in his arms and resisted all her wiles.

At six the next morning, scorching with whisky, yet ever himself, he stood at the bar putting every man's hand down. The way of it was that two men faced each other across a corner, their right elbows resting on the bar, their right hands gripped together, while each strove to press the other's hand down. Man after man came against him, but no man put his hand down, even Olaf Henderson and French Louis failing despite their hugeness.

"The winner pays!" Daylight cried. "Surge along you-all! This way to the snake-room!"

"I'm busted higher'n a kite, and I'm hittin' the trail for Dyea—"

"Goin' out?" some one called.

A spasm of anger wrought on his face for a flashing instant, but in the next good humor was back again.

"I know you-all are only pokin' fun asking such a question," he said with a smile. "Of course I ain't going out."

"Take the oath again, Daylight," the same voice cried.

"I sure will. I first come over Chilcoot in '83. I went out over the Pass in a fall blizzard, with a rag of a shirt and a cup of raw flour. I got my grub-stake in Juneau that winter, and in the spring I went out over the Pass once more. And once more the famine drew me out. Next spring I went in again, and I swore then that I'd never come out till I made my stake. Well, I ain't made it, and here I am. And I ain't going out now. I get the mail and I come right back. I won't stop the night at Dyea. I'll hit up Chilcoot soon as I change the dogs and get the mail and grub. And so I swear once more. I'll never hit for the Outside till I make my pile. And I tell you-all, here and now, it's got to be an almighty big pile. I'll be real conservative, and put the bottom notch at a million. And for not an ounce less'n that will I go out of the country. I tell you-all I got a hunch. There's a big strike coming on the Yukon, and it's just about due. I don't mean no ornery Moosehide, Birch creek kind of a strike. I mean a real rip-shorter half-raiser. Nothing can stop her, and she'll come up river. There's where you-all'll track my moccasins in the near future if you-all want to find me—somewhere in the country around Stewart river, Indian river and Klondike river. When I get back with the mail, I'll head that way so fast you-all won't see my trail for smoke. She's a-coming, fellows, gold from the grass roots down, a hundred dollars to the pan, and a stampede in from the Outside fifty thousand strong."

"She's a Comin', Fellows, Gold From the Grass Roots Down, a Hundred Dollars to the Pan."

"If I was you, Daylight, I wouldn't mush today," Joe Hines counseled, coming in from consulting the spirit thermometer outside the door. "We're in for a good cold snap. It's sixty-two below now, and still goin' down. Better wait till she breaks."

Daylight laughed, and the old sourdoughs around him laughed.

"It's a thousand miles to Dyea," Bettles announced, climbing on the chair and supporting his swaying body by an arm passed around Daylight's neck. "It's a thousand miles, I'm saying, an' most of the train unbroke, but I bet any chechaquo—anything he wants—that Daylight makes Dyea in thirty days."

"That's an average of over thirty-three miles a day," Doc Watson warned, "and I've traveled some myself. A blizzard on Chilcoot would tie him up for a week."

"Yep," Bettles retorted, "an' Daylight'll do the second thousand back again on end in thirty days more, and I got five thousand dollars that says so, and damn the blizzards."

To emphasize his remarks, he pulled out a gold sack the size of a bologna sausage and thumped it down on the bar. Doc Watson thumped his own sack alongside.

"Hold on!" Daylight cried. "Bettles' right, and I want in on this. 'I bet five hundred that sixty days from now I pull up at the Tivoli door with the Dyea mail.'"

A skeptical roar went up, and a dozen men pulled out their sacks.

"Of course he'll make it," Kearns whispered in Bettles' ear. "And there's five hundred Daylight's back in sixty days," he added aloud.

Billy Rawlins closed with the wager, and Bettles hugged Kearns ecstatically.

"By Yupiter, I ban take that bet," Olaf Henderson said, dragging Daylight away from Bettles and Kearns. "Winner pays!" Daylight shouted, closing the wager. "And I'm sure going to win, and sixty days is a long time between drinks, so I pay now. Name your brand, you hochinoos! Name your brand!"

Somebody opened the outer door. A vague gray light filtered in.

"Burning Daylight, Burning Daylight," some one called warningly.

Daylight paused for nothing, heading for the door and pulling down his ear-flaps. Kama stood outside by the sled, a long, narrow affair, sixteen inches wide and seven and a half feet in length, its slatted bottom raised six inches above the steel-shod runners. On it, lashed with thongs of moose hide, were the light canvas bags that contained the mail, and the food and gear for dogs and men. In front of it, in a single line, lay curled five frost-pimmed dogs. They were huskies, matched in size and color, all unusually large and all gray. From their cruel jaws to their bushy tails they were as like as peas in their likeness to timber wolves. Wolves they were, domesticated, it was true, but wolves in appearance and in all their characteristics. On top the sled load, thrust under the lashings and ready for immediate use, were two pairs of snowshoes. Daylight was saying good-by to those who clustered around him. The Virgin wanted to kiss him, and, fuddled slightly though he was with the whisky, he saw his way out without compromising with the apron-string. He kissed the Virgin, but he kissed the other three women with equal partiality. He pulled on his long mittens, roused the dogs to their feet, and took his place at the gee-pole.

"Mush, you beauties!" he cried.

The animals threw their weights against their breastbands on the instant, crouching low to the snow and digging in their claws. They whined eagerly, and before the sled had gone half a dozen lengths both Daylight and Kama (in the rear) were running to keep up. And so, running, man and dogs dipped over the bank and down to the frozen bed of the Yukon, and in the gray light were gone. On the river, where was a packed trail and where snowshoes were unnecessary, the dogs averaged six miles an hour. To keep up with them, the two men were compelled to run. Daylight and Kama relieved each other regularly at the gee-pole, for here was the hard work of steering the flying sled and of keeping in advance of it. The man relieved dropped behind the sled, occasionally leaping upon it and resting. As if through a wall, Daylight had passed from the hum and roar of the Tivoli into another world—a world of silence and immobility. Nothing stirred. The Yukon slept under a coat of ice three feet thick.

The cold snap continued. Only men of iron kept the trail at such low temperatures, and Kama and Daylight were picked men of their races. But Kama knew the other was the better man, and thus, at the start, he was himself foredoomed to defeat. Not that he slackened his effort or willingness by the slightest degree, but that he was beaten by the burden he carried in his mind. His attitude toward Daylight was worshipful. Stoical, taciturn, proud of his physical prowess, he found all these qualities incarnated in his white companion.

Looting the Family Purse

When you once pay the bill for a table or bed, the matter is closed as far as expense is concerned.

But with a stove, the first cost is only a beginning—a trifling amount when you consider the cost of the fuel that stove will consume during its lifetime.

There are a lot of heating stoves that loot the family purse---burn twice as much fuel as a FAVORITE BASE BURNER would require to do the same amount of work.

The Favorite saves one-half on coal bills and throws out more heat. There is no other Base Burner like it, for the features that make it such a wonderful and economical heater are patented.

Don't put up with the wastefulness and extravagance of a cheap stove. Buy a FAVORITE BASE BURNER. It will save you money every day it is in use, and bring such comfort and satisfaction, too.

FALL OF PEKIN NOT CONFIRMED

Wire Service Fails as Rumors Become Current.

IT WOULDN'T CAUSE SURPRISE

Events in the Celestial Empire in Past Few Days Point to the Probability of the Reigning Family Being in the Last Ditch, the Revolutionaries Practically Being in Control of All but the Northern Provinces.

Hongkong, Nov. 7.—There were frenzied rejoicings here over the report that Pekin had fallen into the hands of the revolutionists. Throngs filled the streets and there was much shouting, flag waving and explosions of fireworks. The revolutionary flag was prominently displayed.

Shanghai, Nov. 7.—Though confirmation of the report of the fall of Pekin is not at hand, the rumor may be regarded as an intelligent anticipation of what is to occur.

The reports that Pekin is in the hands of the Chinese rebels came synchronously with announcements from the telegraph companies that communication with the Chinese capital had been severed. The latest dispatches received from Pekin did not refer in any way to altered conditions, but the reports that the rebels have captured the city continue to persist at Shanghai and other points. In spite of this the latest telegrams do not confirm the report and it is impossible to determine the truth or falsity of the rumors that Prince Ching is a prisoner; that many Manchu nobles have committed suicide; that the imperial troops have revolted, and that the emperor and the prince regent have fled. While there is reason to suspect the reliability of the reports, the events of the past few days demonstrate that nothing that might happen in China should cause surprise. Shanghai and many other cities are in the hands of the rebels, and the whole empire is seething with the spirit of revolt. The revolutionists are having a series of unbroken successes, gaining possession of several towns and forts without opposition on the part of the imperial forces. There is virtually nothing left in the hands of the imperialists but the northern ports, from which there is no news.

China is fast drifting on the financial rocks. The assembly in secret session Monday refused to approve of the negotiations being conducted by the present government for an emergency loan. The assembly also voted to oppose all borrowing until the new cabinet is installed in office. Foreign bankers now refuse to consider applications for a loan until it is approved by the assembly. The national treasury is depleted and the overdue Boxer indemnity is unpaid. It is possible that the foreign ministers will submit to their respective governments a suggestion that foreign control be exercised over Chinese finances.

It is stated that the government has received confirmation of the report that the rebels have recaptured Hankow. The rebels have been joined by the Hunan regiments from Chang Sha and now number 32,000 men. It is stated from rebel sources that Li Yuan Feng, leader of the rebel forces, refused to abandon his demands for a republic. This was one of the conditions of the truce, and it is therefore doubtful that anything will be accomplished by the armistice.

DRAGON LOST OUT

Traditional Emblem of Celestial Empire Omitted in Celebration.

San Francisco, Nov. 7.—There was great rejoicing in Chinatown which culminated at one of the most elaborate banquets ever held among the local Chinese. The foundation of the Chinese republic was the occasion of the celebration. One of the features of the day was the parade of 2,000 Chinese, in which for the first time the dragon flag of China had no place. Instead of the ancient banner the marchers carried an enormous flag of the new Chung Hwa republic. A drum corps composed of Chinese boys was one of the features that attracted much attention.

The day ended with a big banquet given by the Chinese Free Masons. Toa King Chong, editor of one of the local Chinese papers, said:

"The revolutionary party is for reform and a reform that is for the good of humanity as well as for the welfare of the Chinese people. The revolution in China has demonstrated the folly of thinking that China is sleeping or in a stupor."

WILLIAM SPRY

Utah's Governor Presents Silver Service to the New Battleship.

SILVER SERVICE IS PRESENTED BY UTAH

Navy Accepts Graven Image of Brigham Young.

New York, Nov. 7.—Governor Spry of Utah and Senator Reed Smoot formally presented the magnificent silver service purchased by the people of Utah for the battleship Utah to the officers of the vessel at the Brooklyn navy yard. The presentation took place on board the battleship and 250 enthusiastic residents of Utah took part in the ceremony. Of these about 200 were girls.

There has been much controversy over the silver service because it bore a likeness of Brigham Young. Women's organizations tried to stop the presentation. The preponderance of women at the ceremony showed that the sentiment against the Brigham Young representation was not unanimous.

Governor Spry, Senator Smoot, other prominent citizens of the commonwealth of Utah and 200 blooming girls, members of the great Mormon choir, swarmed about the Utah. They were met by Captain W. S. Benson and his staff in full uniform. The band played the national anthem, the girls sang and then Miss Hazel Tout pulled an American flag from the great silver set and revealed it to the view of the assemblage. The formal speech of presentation was made by Governor Spry and Captain Benson responded.

QUALIFIED VOTER

President Taft Met Registration Requirements at Last Hour.

Cincinnati, Nov. 7.—The election judge in the furniture repair shop that serves as a polling place for Precinct M, Ward 3, held his pen thoughtfully over a blank on his registration list and finally announced thereon as a qualified voter the name of William Howard Taft, "president of the United States and attorney at law."

Richard Murphy, serving as Democratic election judge for that precinct, broadened his brow to emphasize his apology for asking Mr. Taft such a needless question as "I suppose your occupation is president of the United States?"

"Put me down as attorney," replied the president loudly, and as his Democratic friend raised his eyebrow with a puzzled expression the president broadened his smile and continued: "I want that put down because I may need the business soon."

Even Murphy's native courtesy could not prevent a genuine Democratic smile, but he persisted in his reference, and finally Mr. Taft consented, saying: "Well, put me down as president; I can't deny it."

So they compromised and crowded the double title of president and attorney after his name.

ITALY FACES A SERIOUS TASK

Occupation of Tripoli Is Beset With Difficulties.

CAN SHE HOLD ON TO END?

This Is a Question That Europe Now Is Beginning to Ask in All Seriousness, Even in the Face of the Confident Tone Still Maintained by the Official Givings Out at Rome.

Constantinople, Nov. 7.—The government has issued an official statement in which it is said that Turkish forces have recaptured Derna after severe fighting, in which 500 Italians were killed. It is also said that the remainder of the Italian expeditionary force was captured along with eighteen guns.

London, Nov. 7.—No longer is the Italian government able to conceal its grave anxiety over the situation in Tripoli. To seek peace and enforce it has been its motto from the outset of the campaign. Today a change of note is apparent. To seek peace and insure it, fitly describes its tone. The government at Rome, as echoed in the Italian embassy in this city, still maintains its attitude of an all victorious conqueror, declaring that it is content to rely upon Premier Gioletti and General Caneva as against the foreign correspondents. It is also announced that there is no way sufficient number of soldiers at Tripoli and that a moderate advance will begin at once. There have been no reverses and no recapture of forts, according to the Italian authorities, and there is no intention to supersede General Caneva.

While the proclamation of annexation is meant as an indication that Italy intends to remain in Tripoli and take all the necessary steps to carry out that program, the government admits that it is well aware that the task is likely to be a lengthy one. But it points out the time it took Kitchener to get to Khartum, even with a great waterway like the Nile to help. It is plain, however, that General Caneva has met the same fate that General Buller met in fighting the Boers in South Africa, and it is equally plain that the Italian army has not yet produced in this campaign a Kitchener. It is undeniable that the army of occupation has been forced back. It is true that Turkish shells are falling in the streets of Tripoli, that cholera threatens its ghastly horrors, while the stories of atrocities if only half true, plainly indicate the demoralization of the Italian troops.

In spite of all this Italy can without doubt maintain her hold in Tripoli almost indefinitely with ample troops, the command of the sea and the protection of the guns of the navy. The question is if such a costly and inglorious course is necessary, would the government be able to control the consequent trouble at home.

FIRST ELECTION

New Mexicans Busy Today Picking Out Full List of Officeholders.

Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 7.—Fully a thousand candidates have been nominated for the various offices to be filled today, New Mexico voting for the first time for a set of state officers, members of congress, a supreme court, eight district judges and eight district attorneys. Besides these twenty-four state senators and forty-nine representatives are to be elected.

In addition to state officers, judiciary, legislature and county officers New Mexico is voting on an amendment to the constitution under an act of congress known as the Flood provision. It gives the people another opportunity to pass on the amending clause of the state constitution, whether it shall make the constitution more easily amendable than under its present provision.

MYSTERIOUS CASE

Body Had Been Left in Road For Auto to Run Over.

Bedford, Ind., Nov. 7.—James Mitchell, who was found unconscious in the road near here by Dr. W. H. Heckman and Emery Reed, died at the hospital several hours after being removed there, without explaining the mysterious circumstances surrounding the injuries he received.

The men who found him were riding in an auto, which passed over him before it could be stopped. Three pools of blood in the road indicated he had been attacked and the absence of valuable indicated robbery. Ollie Younger, who had been with Mitchell during the day, and four members of a gypsy camp were arrested on suspicion.

NICK'S LOT WILL BE KNOWN SOON

People of Chaves County, New Mexico, are Voting Today and Herman Tompkins is a Candidate.

WOULD BE SHERIFF THERE

His Conservative Friends Predict he Can Not be Elected but he Will Cut Down Majority.

Today the voters of Chaves county, New Mexico, are electing a county and State ticket and Nick Tompkins, well known ball player and farmer of this county, who located at Orchard Park, Chaves county, a few months ago, is a candidate for sheriff on the Republican ticket.

His lot will be known early tonight. In view of the fact that he is working against such an overwhelming Democratic majority in the county, it is believed that nothing short of a Republican landslide would elect Nick. But his friends are hopeful for his victory and a few more conservative ones declare that he will cut down the Democratic majority to a good extent but that he will never be able to come out with a neat majority over the Democratic candidate.

The vote in the county is estimated at twenty-four hundred. The Democrats claim sixteen hundred votes to the Republicans eight hundred, or in other words, two to one. Rush county people in Chaves county, who do not let their enthusiasm get away with their judgment, say that Nick may cut down the Democratic majority of eight hundred to two or three hundred but even that is doubtful.

Nick has been making a wonderful campaign in the county and he is praised for his versatility and his ability to make friends. He won much popularity as a ball player, at which every fan in this city and county knows he is a past master. He has been making an active campaign and gained many friends among the Mexican population. They are very numerous in the county and their vote amounts to much. The Republican candidate for the State legislature is a Mexican, and he and Nick have been campaigning together. Rush county friends of Nick have been taking an interest that is even more than friendly interest in his campaign. Charley Frazee, James E. Watson, George W. Young and many other prominent Republicans have written to Roswell, the county seat, pointing out Nick's excellent qualities. The letters of Mr. Watson, Mr. Frazee and Mr. Young are reproduced in the Roswell Register Tribune, the Republican newspaper there, this week.

The Register Tribune says of Nick which reveals the high regard in which he is held there:

C. H. Tompkins, for sheriff, another farmer candidate, is moving things. What his own people back in Indiana think of him is shown by the letters in another column. Tompkins has appealed to the voters. A plain, young man, without frills, his rugged honesty is apparent to all. He is competent to keep his own books, and there will be no question of his administration of the affairs of the sheriff's office. He is especially strong with the young men and is going to be another surprise.

Vote for C. H. Tompkins of Orchard Park for sheriff. Read those letters from his home people. If people who know him best think that much of him, we need him. He will be sheriff for the next five years.

OLIO MYELITIS IS FATAL

Sixteen-Months-Old Child Dies in Shelby County.

William Hasler, the sixteen-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hasler, died at their home in Moral township, Shelby county of infantile paralysis, from which it had been suffering for only a very few days. The child first began to show marked signs of illness last Thursday and the father went to the office of Dr. E. Mace, at New Palestine, for medicine. Friday the child appeared better, but Friday evening the acute symptoms of paralysis developed and the infant was then taken to the office of Dr. Mace as the parents of the child did not understand the nature of its ailment. Dr. Mace pronounced the affliction poliomyelitis and other physicians were called in consultation, but they were unable to give the little sufferer relief, and it passed away Saturday night.

Four one pint of milk into a saucepan. Place over a low fire and without stirring let the milk boil down to one-quarter pint. The milk will not be scorched.

THAT'S because aluminum is a better distributor and retainer of heat than other materials of which cooking utensils are made.

You can cook quicker and you therefore save fuel.

"Wear-Ever" utensils are made without joints, seams or soldered parts, from thick, hard sheet aluminum. They have no coating to peel, crack or blister. They cannot rust, cannot form poisonous compounds with acid fruits or foods, and they last a generation.
